

Army and Navy News

Walter F. Dillingham, head of the Hawaiian Dredging Company, which is dredging Pearl Harbor channel and the harbor itself under a naval appropriation bill, left for San Francisco in the Siberia yesterday forenoon, and will return on the same vessel.

Mr. Dillingham's departure was somewhat sudden, and the trip is made in response to urgent business connected with the dredging contract. It has been the plan of the dredging company to bring other dredging machines here, particularly the Pacific, which was once here on a contract to dredge Honolulu harbor.

So far nothing has been learned of the appropriation of about $2,000,000 to make up the full total of the contract awarded to the Hawaiian Dredging Company for $2,500,000. Of this amount the government had an appropriation of only $600,000, and the company has started in on its contract against this latter amount. It was expected that the last Congress would appropriate the remainder, which is the largest portion of the contract amount. The dredging company has not desired to go in heavily on its contract until assured that the full amount would be available. It has been suggested that the amount may be included in the Sundry Civil Bill for harbors and waterways, the amount under this head being very large. The dredger Government is now working the channel with the Reclamation.

Horses Now in Stables.

All the stables for the Fifth Cavalry horses at Leilehua have been completed, and the horses are now all under cover. The mounts have not yet been subjected to a hair-clipping, but this operation will take place in the near future.

The hospital has been completed, and most of the additional buildings found necessary have also been erected. The non-commissioned staff officers' quarters are being built and will be ready for occupancy shortly.

The Oahu Service Company's restaurant and cafe is now running smoothly and doing big business, not only among the officers and enlisted men, but with visitors to the post. L. B. Reeves is now in full charge of the cafe, and his building is now in readiness to enable him to cater to motor-party parties from town.

The railroad will be built into the post within a month. This means the establishing of a railroad station at Leilehua, and this will also be followed by a postoffice.

To Control Behavior of Soldiers.

To control the behavior of enlisted men in the army in public places and to insure their appearing neat and soldierly at all times, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the Department of the East, has ordered that hereafter all enlisted men leaving army posts in the department on pass shall report to the commander of the guard for inspection, whether they be in civilian dress or uniform. They will also be required to report to that officer upon their return to the post from leave granted.

Many appeals were made to the War Department authorities by those interested in the service for an order which would prescribe a properly fitted blue dress uniform of the new pattern, to be worn by soldiers going on pass. The colorless, slouchy appearance of the olive drab service uniform, it was said, created an unfavorable impression.

WILL HAVE PHONO. RECORD EXCHANGE

Next to buying phonograph records every few days, or when a new one is published and placed on the market, is to be the opportunity to get them for a consideration of so much per annum, just as the people in small cities, and some large ones, have exchange libraries and obtain books at a minimum cost for their use for a certain length of time. An exchange of this sort is to be established in Honolulu, and persons may borrow records as they would borrow books. It is expected that there will be one thousand members of the exchange—less than that would not warrant the starting of it—and the membership dues will be sufficient to pay the salary of a man to look after the machines and purchase new records. Owners of machines get tired of them after a few weeks' strenuous work wrestling with, "I'd Love You as I Used to if I Could," and others of that caliber, and to think of having an opportunity to change with a member who has Caruso records is exhilarating.

JAPS WERE BADLY TREATED IN CHILE

Japanese laborers who have had an idea of leaving the Hawaiian Islands for Mexico, Peru or Chile, may well take warning from the experience of Japanese immigrants who were recently returned from Chile to Japan, their story being told in the Japan Gazette of recent date:

"The French steamer Caravelais which entered Yokohama on the 11th inst. brought back sixty Japanese emigrants to South America, in a most distressed condition. These emigrants left Yokohama on Sept. 20th on board the same ship bound for Chile where they were to be employed in rubber gathering in contract with the Meiji Emigration Company. The party was composed of 679. The term of the contract was four years' duration and the wages of 2.50 yen per diem. However on arrival at Callao, Peru, they found that the truth was quite contrary to what was promised to them by the company. The kind of employment was of other nature while the wages ranged between only 0.80 and 1.00 yen. Disappointed at this unexpected state of things sixty-eight of the number refused to land while the rest agreed. The dissatisfied were therefore taken to Iquique via ports by the steamer. During the ship's stay at Iquique six of the party secretly landed to stow away, but they were scared by the police who shot and killed one of them. Two successfully made their escape while the rest returned to the ship. Then the steamer started on her home voyage in December last arriving at Yokohama a few days ago after the long voyage of fifty-three days. When the steamer came near the equator in Hawaiian waters there appeared several invalids among the emigrants and other passengers, all of whom succumbed after much suffering and went to a watery grave. One after another of the poor passengers were caught by disease ascribed to unwholesome food. So before the ship came in sight of home some thirty of the passengers, including men and women, were taken to bed and in a serious condition. It was piteous sight at Yokohama to see them, disappointed emigrants, landing almost tottering, dressed in summer clothes over which they had hung shabby blankets or shawls to protect themselves from the cold.

Mr. Bonjine did not take moving pictures of the Marine Battalion parade on Monday morning. He had his apparatus on the ground but did not take pictures.

MAYFLOWER

A Clergyman's Opinion

MAYFLOWER

Time was when men were ashamed to admit that they owned an interest in a mining proposition. They bought mining stock on the sly and kept it dark from their friends and families because they regarded their investment as a pure speculation, a bet and a gamble, and a long chance. But times have changed in recent years, and so has mining. The mining business has advanced just the same as has the sugar business. Men of national importance, identified with banking, insurance, railroads and the leading industrials are now interesting themselves in mining because mining has been reduced by modern methods, a knowledge of geology, and the expertness of modern engineers to a science and a sure thing. Mining is today a very important and basic business and it's a good deal safer than most businesses according to the tale of tell-tale statistics. Also it is one of the cleanest businesses under the sun. A Methodist minister was recently reproached by one of his flock for identifying himself with a gold-mining proposition, and this was his retort, in substance, in an open letter published in his local broadsheet:

"Conscientious scruples AGAINST buying stock in a gold mine? I have no such scruples. I purchased my stock as a matter of principle. The Sermon on the Mount and the ten commandments don't come into the matter and theology needn't. The fact is, I admire a miner's wealth. It is clean. There is no blood or orphans' or widows' tears on it. It is acquired away from the scheming and cut-throat competition that characterizes ordinary ventures, where the success of one man so often means the disaster and downfall of some other man, or, perhaps, a number of men. Nobody has been pinched; nobody has been wronged. The miner who digs a fortune out of the ground has the satisfaction that he hasn't robbed a soul, even though he becomes a hundred times a millionaire. As I look at the matter, there are few producers of wealth. The many live on the few. The only man comparable with the miner is the farmer. He gets what he has direct from nature, but he produces perishable wealth. While he meets a want, his contribution to the world's wealth therefore is not a permanent one like the miner's. The gold miner is today the king wealth producer of the country, and I honor him above all others. It is no dishonor; it needs no apology, to emulate his example or assist him in his efforts. That is the whole question in a nutshell."

And who shall say that this clergyman wasn't right, be his critic a Methodist, an Episcopalian, a Catholic, or a Chinese Confucian?

Apart from being the cleanest business, mining is one of the best and safest and soundest and most conservative businesses under the sun, PROVIDED you get into the right mine with the right people.

The "MAYFLOWER" Mine is a proven gold mine, and certified as such by the U. S. Government, the Nevada County Promotion Committee who are on the spot, and by several Honolulu gentlemen who have been on the spot, and it is in the hands of honest and honorable men. Its guiding spirit is an American who located and developed by his genius one of the greatest mines that exists in Canada—the "Regina"—a man who was honored on his last visit to Europe by being elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of England, and that honor is not conferred promiscuously on Tom, Dick, Harry, or your uncle Annie.
